Environmental Education Coordination Team to meet February 14

The Environmental Education Coordination Team (EECT) will meet on Tuesday, February 14 at 4 p.m. at the University of West Florida, 11000 University Parkway, Building 13, Room 221. The various topics up for discussion include various upcoming events, grant ideas and suggestions, seagrass awareness and many other environmental education topics.

The EECT is a group of environmental professionals who joined together to create environmental education programs, leverage limited resources and serve as a “one stop” source for information in the Pensacola Bay area. The group is recognized as the educational subcommittee of the Bay Area Resource Council (BARC). The flagship program of EECT, the Resource Rangers, has been recognized with local, state, and national awards for promoting environmental education to late elementary and middle school youth and their families. The program includes classroom activities, field trips, and a series of videos focusing on environmental education for grades 4-8. The goal of the program is to encourage responsible environmental attitudes and actions in today’s youth who will become tomorrow’s decision makers.
